'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Two of the hardest words in the English language to remember is martial and martial.

The best of spellers will fall down on those two words if they don't watch themselves.

Today is Admission Day... a quiet one for Richmond. Stores, banks and other places of business are to be closed.

Our football fans are eagerly awaiting the start of football season. Some have even started to lay their bets for the season.

Have you ever tried to polish your car in a hurry?

Friend wife suggests that seeing as how you haven't anything to do, the car ought to be polished.

The other half of the family grunts, lays down his detective story, and walks to the garage, talking to himself.

He surveys the chariot, noting with interest the dust on the sides, the fenders and the roof.

He notices especially the good paint job that was done on the fenders. As he surveys them, he notices that one of the wires leading to the lights is rather frayed.

Digging down in his tool chest he finds a roll of tape and starts taping the wire.

This finished, he puts the tape away, only to be reminded by the sight of a set of lights that the tail light in his car is burned out.

A screw driver is then secured, and the operation starts on the tail light. The screws are thoroughly rusted and oil is needed.

A half hour hunt finds the needed can of oil in the house back of the stove.

The operation on the tail light is started again.

The screw driver new slips and Our Hero cuts his finger. Another 15 or 20 minutes is spent in taping it up and cussing.

Back to the tail light again. This time the rusty light comes off, the light is taken out and a fresh one is inserted.

Before placing the lens back on, Our Hero carefully wipes out the dirt from the lamp with a clean handkerchief.

Now for a dust cloth. A hunt in the rubbish in the rear corner of the garage ensues.

FOUND! A funny paper among the rubbish... a funny paper he has never read before.

Time is now taken out while Our Hero reads the Bumbles, the Gumps, et al.

Another few minutes and the hunt for the dust cloth is started again. This time he finds an old fish reel that he had been looking for last year.

A half hour is spent fussing with the reel until it is almost as good as new (that is until you get that 15 pound beauty on the end of your line and the reel goes haywire).

Back to the polish job again. This time he decides that the floor and cushions should be cleaned.

Up comes the carpet and a dime falls to the floor. The dime is pocketed and a 15 minute search for more money that might have been dropped is started.

A penny is found and the treasure hunt is concluded.

With the rugs out of the car, the idea then suggests itself that maybe the battery needs water.

Up comes the floor board and the battery is looked at. Water is added and ten minutes is spent in cleaning the battery terminal.

Finally the floor board is McKinnon died in the county hospital Sunday of injuries received last Wednesday when his automobile overturned near McAvoy. Two companions escaped with minor injuries.

Michael's body was recovered from the bay at Pittsburg this morning authorities believing he fell into the bay Sunday.

Judicial, according to police, committed suicide by taking poison. He had been out of work for some time authorities declare and was suffering from effects of an industrial accident for a year.

In addition to the three deaths, several people were injured over the week-end in vehicle accidents. Arnold Coragatti, 22, is in a serious condition and his brother, Donald, 20, is suffering from broken ribs and other injuries sustained when their motorcycle crashed into a stray horse near Antioch early this morning. The horse was killed a few minutes later when an automobile driven by C. W. Rooker of Antioch struck the animal. Rooker was not injured and took the injured boys to a hospital at Antioch.

Police are today investigating the finding of R. E. Rowe, 21, of Martinez, in a field on the Harrison ranch near Danville Saturday, shortly after the automobile loaned him by a Martinez dealer was found on the highway nearby.

Rowe, according to police, took the car for a demonstration, saying he had $200 and wanted to buy an automobile. When found, Rowe had been struck near the base of the skull by a blunt instrument. He recovered consciousness this morning and said he had picked up two men on the highway near Vine Hill. They asked him to stop at Pacheco and while there, talked with a woman in a sedan. He did not remember how he was struck nor what happened afterward.

NEW REVOLT REPORTED TO BE SWEEPING ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 8.—UP—Two regiments of infantry counter-revolutionary government tonight, just after Gen. Jose Uriburu had taken the oath of office as provisional president.

Fighting broke out along the water front, and spread to other portions of the city.

It was not known at this hour—9:13 p. m.—how serious the situation was, or what might develop from it.

The outbreak came at the moment when crowds of people were jamming the broad avenues of the capital, cheering for the government which during the week-end took power from the administration of President Hipolito Irigoyen.

NEW PRESIDENT IS INAUGURATED

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 8.—UP—Unnumbered thousands celebrated the legalization of the "army and peoples" revolution today when Gen. Jose Evaristo Uriburu, revolutionary leader, was sworn in as provisional president amid the enthusiastic acclaim of the populace.

General Uriburu took the oath of office first to the people, then to the army. The president of the supreme court administered the oath, his words almost lost even to those near him by the cheering throng before the government building in the Plaza de Mayo.

One untoward incident occurred during the proceedings. As the stupendous holiday crowd of citizens and armed forces waited in the Plaza de Mayo for the inaugural celebration, an airplane flew low overhead, and dropped communistic propaganda.

Revolt

The people were urged to revolt against the new government. An army plane started out to meet the propaganda "mystery" ship.

WOMAN HIT BY FIRE CAR

OAKLAND, Sept. 8.—Authorities tonight launched an investigation into the burning of the old Key Route Inn—at one time Oakland's leading holsters and a famous landmark.

Four alarms were turned in during the course of the blaze, which was one of the most spectacular seen here in years, and which was featured by a score of thrilling rescues.

A blind man was led to safety through the burning halls of the old hotel by his faithful collie dog. Two elderly women were carried to safety by hotel employees and a dancing instructor led 15 of her pupils to safety.

An unidentified woman, about 35 years of age, was killed when she stepped into the path of a car driven by Battalion Chief Frank Kispert as he was speeding to answer the alarm.

Blaze Seen
The blaze was discovered shortly before three o'clock this afternoon by newsboys, who dashed in to the building and warned it to the clerk, Paul T. Bell and the manager, Harry M. Barker.

Barker and Bell rushed through the halls, knocking on doors, warning the occupants, escorting them through smoke-filled corridors.

The flames spread rapidly thru the old building, which has been branded as a fire trap by Oakland fire authorities many times within recent years.

On the third floor of the burning hotel 20 elderly women, Miss Viola Bruce and Mrs. W. O. Carruthers were found. They were carried to safety by firemen.

Man Overcome

A faithful collie dog led W. A. Christensen, a blind man, to safety.

Capt. G. B. Baldwin, U. S. A., retired, was overcome by smoke and was rescued by two policemen.

Miss Patricia Reynolds, who conducted a dancing class in the Twenty-second street arcade, saw the ceiling of her classroom burst into flames. She carefully gathered her pupils and ushered them to safety.

Third Floor Razed
The entire third floor of the three-story structure was destroyed by flames and the second and first floors were slightly damaged by fire and water.

The hotel has 75 registered guests, 5 of whom were making their home there permanently.

The inn was built in 1907 by Borax Smith and Frank Havens, as part of the original Key System. It was originally the Oakland terminal of the Key System trains and was one of Oakland's best hostels.

LOVE QUARREL BRINGS DEATH

FRESNO, Sept. 8.—UP—Ending a week's search for Miss Fern Schultz, pretty 20 year old Fresno girl, her body was found today near a Santa Fe railroad crossing on the outskirts of town.

The girl had been killed by a discharge from a shotgun.

Although the police were of the opinion that the girl had committed suicide, they were investigating several angles of the case with a view to determine whether there was a possibility of murder.

Miss Schultz, secretary of the principal of a local high school, disappeared from home a week ago.

Search for her extended from Fresno to valley points as far north as Gilroy where she has a grandmother living, but no trace of her was found.

Authorities were understood to have questioned a 16-year old boy in connection with a rumor that an unhappy love affair may have prompted the girl to kill herself.

Legion Grid Stars Hold Scrimmage

With the issuing of slits Sunday, the largest turnout of this season was registered at the Richmond Post of the American Legion football practice on the Richmond Union high school field.

Bud Clarke, well known and capable Richmond football player, was nominated to run the team through its paces Sunday, as neither Phil Hempler or Frank Ribbel were able to be present.

After a brief workout, a scrimmage practice was held, and according to the consensus of opinion, the team is progressing considerably faster this year than last.

Considering that it is still early in the season, the local grid stars played remarkable football, fumbles and missed tackles, being conspicuous by their absence.

Ed Hurley has been selected to take charge of the suits and equipment, and until the first team is picked, will distribute and collect the paraphernalia at each practice.

Dan Bradley, manager of the team is enthusiastic over the squad this year, although he is still crying for more players.

"I want to carry two complete teams throughout the season," said Bradley, "and I want each team to equal the other in excellence."

Hempler and Ribbel, according to Bradley, will undoubtedly be present at this afternoon's practice which will be held at five o'clock, despite today's being a holiday.

All players have been asked by Bradley to be present at each practice as a game is scheduled for the latter part of this month and it is necessary for the coaches to determine who is going to fill the positions.

ACORNS WILL MEET DUCKS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—UP—With only six weeks of the Pacific Coast league season remaining, the series between Hollywood and Los Angeles that starts in the south Tuesday will be a decisive one.

Hollywood is in first place, six and one half games ahead of the Angels, who are one game in front of the San Francisco Seals. Unless the Angels take a majority of the games with Hollywood they are likely to be passed as the Seals oppose the last place San Francisco Missions here.

There will be four double headers Tuesday, Admission Day, other games being Portland at Oakland and Seattle at Sacramento.

Married Men Victorious In Ball Game

Twice have the married men of the El Cerrito fire department suffered crushing defeats at the hands of the fire fighting bachelors of El Cerrito.

But the sad memory of these two unfortunate battles has completely vanished from the horizon of the married athletes since Sunday. The reason is a sensational 12 to 1 victory over the unmarried aggregation.

Nothing could halt the married men in their last fling at fame last week-end, and the former victors were completely baffled by the slugging and the fielding of their opponents.

MOITOA NINE WINS SUNDAY CONTEST

The Moitoza Fords added one more win to their long list of victories when they defeated the Concord Y. M. I. by a score of four to one Sunday afternoon.

The Fords started the game shy of several men, but the fielding and the chucking of Martin replaced the loss of the absent athletes. Martin allowed the Concord swatters but seven bingles, while the locals gained 13 hits off Franks, Concord hurler.

Gray starred with the hickory, making good three for four.

Hampshire, Goldsworthy, and Ponnell all did good work at the home platter for the Fords, each getting two hits out of four times at bat. Gray also performed several sensational base running feats that were important factors in the victory of the Fords last week-end.

The Fords will play the Johnson Oil Burners this afternoon at San Pablo at 2:30 o'clock. The Johnson Oil Burners have dealt heavily with many eastbay teams, and they may be relied upon to present strong opposition to the formidable Moitoza nine this afternoon. However, the visitors will be required to display a special brand of baseball today if they intend to be at the top of the pile at the end of the ninth inning. The Fords are as yet undefeated, and boast one of the most enviable records of any baseball outfit in this district.

Local High Gridders To Play Friday

With a 6-0 victory over Oakland Technical high school and a 0-0 tie with University high school behind them, the Richmond Union high school varsity gridders will attempt to continue their 1930 season undefeated next Friday afternoon when they battle with the McClymond high school pigskin tosters of Oakland on the local field.

McClymond high is, like Tech and University, an ancient rival of the local warriors, and the annual contest with McClymond high school is ranked as a classic of Eastbay high school football.

The Richmond varsity athletes have been toiling hard on the high school field this week in preparation for Friday's contest. Frank Ribbel has been handling the backfield while Phil Hempler has been in charge of the line.

Friday's game is the third game of the season to be played on the Richmond gridiron. The next game will be with San Leandro at San Leandro, according to the tentative schedule. The locals will then travel to Oakland to meet the Oakland high school squad there on Sept. 25.

Jr. Colleges Send Many To University

BERKELEY, Sept. 8.—The percentage of new undergraduates registering at the University of California with advanced standing as a result of attendance at Junior colleges or other institutions of university rank has increased almost 11 per cent in the past four years, according to figures just released by the recorder of faculties, Thomas B. Steel.

In the registration period which is just coming to a close, the recorder's analysis shows that 36.7 per cent of the new undergraduates have advanced standing, that is, have completed part of the requirements for a degree in previous study elsewhere. Last year this percentage was 35.9 per cent; in 1928, 34.3 per cent; in 1927, 31 per cent; and in 1926, 25.9 per cent.

The percentage of men and women students in the new undergraduate enrollment is about the same this year as it has been for the past four years, when the percentage of men dropped below 50. This year the percentage of men is 48.4 per cent.

Although there is a decrease of 18 students registering for pre-medical or medical work, and for pre-dentistry work, and a decrease of one student in agriculture as compared with the new undergraduate enrollment of last year, there is a slight increase in the enrollment of new undergraduates in the total figures. The total gain is 154 students, made up of 108 women and 46 men.

The chief increases took place in the departments of the college of letters and science, particularly in pre-architectural work, in the college of chemistry, and in the college of mechanics.

Readjustment Of Theaters Seen By Savant

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—With the growing generation being educated to little else than "canned" entertainment, it appears inevitable that the theater will experience a readjustment in the next decade.

Such is the belief of Junius Graven, University of California extension division instructor in stagecraft.

Demand for the spoken word will save the theater from being cast into complete discard, believes Graven. He says: "Under the circumstances, the professional theater must one day be replaced to a large extent by community or neighborhood theatrical activities of the amateur or semi-professional kind. For there will always be a certain number of people in every community who will prefer the glamour of the spoken word by the act or in action to mechanically recorded sound-pictures."

The hope for the theater for the future is the artist director, on whose shoulders will rest the entire responsibility of a production, he stated.

Four Held On Beating Charge

SALINAS, Sept. 8.—UP—Four white youths were under investigation today by Sheriff Carl Abbott, in connection with the administering yesterday of a brutal beating to Marcus Alcantara, 23, a Filipino.

The youths, who were said to have been drinking, chased the Filipino into a field and beat him, until driven away by a woman who appeared from a ranch house and ordered them away.

The woman, Mrs. Manuel Cunha, took the Filipino to the Salinas Valley hospital where he was released today after treatment for severe cuts and bruises.

Sheriff Carl Abbott questioned the four boys today and later released them on their own recognizance, after instructing them to re-appear tomorrow for further interrogation.

Local officials stated that there was no connection between the attack and recent labor troubles between whites and Filipinos.

PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINA IN STATEMENT

LA PLATA, Argentina, Sept. 8. —UP—Hipolito Irigoyen, enfeebled by age and near collapse after the revolution which drove him from the presidential palace, remained a statesman and gentleman to the last moment of his regime.

A statement of 31 words, penned by his unsteady hand, commenced the resignation which he submitted to Lieut. Col. Irustra, commander of the Seventh Infantry here, after leaving the capital.

The 80-year old president was so ill from grippe when he arrived that he had to be carried into the infantry headquarters. The scene as he presented the resignation, shattered in health and broken in spirit by the final, losing battle was so moving that his friends and enemies alike wept.

Daughter With Ex-Ruler

The resignation was described to the United Press by Cynanave, who persuaded his chief to come to La Plata and resign when it was apparent that the battle had been lost.

Irigoyen is lodged in the quarters of Lieut. Col. Irustra. He is not a prisoner, but is confined to bed and attended by his daughter and his personal physician, Dr. Meabe.

A few faithful friends carried Irigoyen to the office of Lieut. Col. Irustra, where he sank exhausted into a chair after he had weakly saluted all present with a feeble motion of his hand, one of the last acts connected with the presidential power which he was soon to relinquish.

After a moment's pause Irigoyen slowly removed his hat in respect to those who were to relieve him of his power. The gesture required notable physical effort and Dr. Meabe indicated that Irigoyen should replace his hat, due to possible danger on account of his illness.

The president, obviously fighting to maintain sufficient strength to go through the ordeal before him, humbly asked permission to place his hat back on, and it was politely granted.

Irigoyen hesitated for a moment, while none suggested what his mission in La Plata was, and then asked for a pen and paper. Slowly and deliberately he wrote the following statement:

"To the military chiefs: I Hipolito Irigoyen, constitutional president of the Argentine nation, in view of the events which occurred today and Saturday, resign my post of president."

Surrenders Document

When he had written the resignation Irigoyen asked, with marked humility, to see Lieut. Col. Irustra. Facing the commander of the regiment with a visible rumbling of all his will newer, Irigoyen said:

"I hand you here this document."

Doctors and friends then aided Irigoyen to bed. He had suffered from prostration and lack of food during the last days of his office.

COURSES FOR ADULTS TO START

OAKLAND, Sept. 8.—Designed specifically as an adult educational center to serve Oakland and the east bay area, the University of California Extension Division building, now completed at 1730 Franklin street, will inaugurate a series of "open to the public" courses beginning Wednesday, September 10, according to announcement of Boyd Rakestraw, assistant Extension director.

The rooms are all steam heated and well ventilated and contain all the latest classroom equipment with one room being equipped for laboratory work.

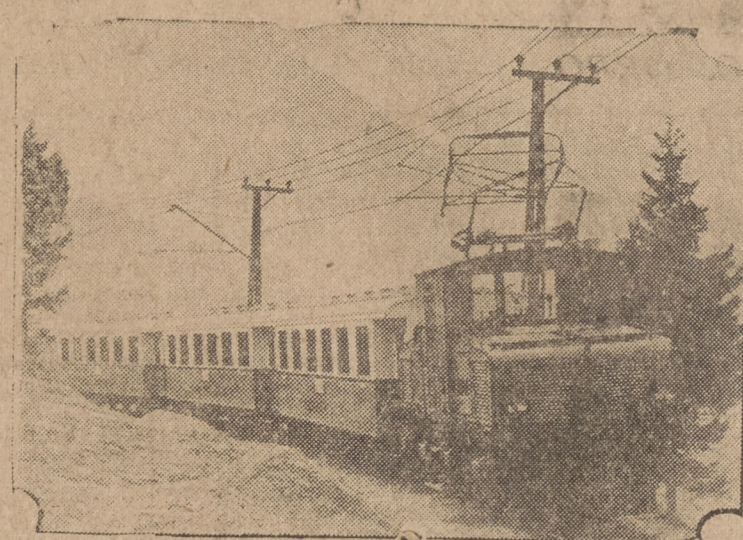

The building according to Rakestraw, "is the culmination of several years of effort to obtain a centralized building for adult classes and lectures given by the Extension Division of the University of California. Enrollment figures for the past year show that there were over 5000 adults in the east bay taking evening class work of the university calibre."

Filters For Oil Being Studied Now

DAVIS, Sept. 8.—Combining his investigational work on oil filters for automobile engines with pleasure, A. H. Hoffman, associate agricultural engineer in the University of California at the branch of the College of Agriculture here, has just returned from a 2700 mile trip to Wyoming. Desiring to attend a family reunion at Wheatland, Wyo., Hoffman equipped his motor car with an oil filter and took an extra efficiency of oil filters. He believes that if the air, oil and fuel used in the engine is properly safeguarded, one along for use on the return trip.

On the trip to Wyoming he used the first filter, making frequent tests for viscosity, acidity and sediment; on his return the other type of filter was used.

He is now engaged in analyzing the samples he drew from the Kasch announced that reservations for the two day celebration are coming into Scot headquarters here from all parts of the state, and arrangements are being made to entertain more than 2,000 Sciots, their families and friends.

An elaborate program of entertainment has been mapped out. It will include a bathing beauty contest, with entries from every Scot pyramid in California. A golf tournament, participated in by members of Scioto, will be played on the Northwood course at Rio Nido. The Sciots' sixty piece band will give a concert and there will be a vaudeville show staged around the bonfire on Saturday night. Boating, racing, swimming and other water sports are on the two day program.

Men Not Equal Savant Says In U. C. Lecture

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Men are not only created unequal, their training makes them even less nearly equal.

So declares Dr. R. C. Tryon, lecturer with the University of California extension division, who will give lectures on general psychology and the psychology of individual differences, this all, at 540 Powell street, in the extension building.

"It is the measurement of individual differences in mental ability among men and the discovery of the causes of these differences which is the object of innumerable experiments being now conducted by psychologists," he states. "In the progressive schools, children are given psychological examinations and put into classes where the instruction is 'tailored' to their abilities."

"In the field of law enforcement, the legal profession is beginning to accept the psychiatric position that the habitual criminal is a 'mentally sick' person, and should not be punished, but treated. In business the personnel or vocational director now must lean heavily upon the finding of scientific psychology of individual differences if he is to be of value."

The psychologist is beginning to discover some of the laws which cause individuals to differ in learning, although there is a vast amount of work to be accomplished in this field, he states.

University To Aid Study Of Depredations

DAVIS, Sept. 8.—To assist in a study to be made of the depredations of game in California, T. I. Storer, associate professor of zoology in the college of agriculture has been named to represent the University of California. This study is planned by a committee of the California state chamber of commerce, with A. C. Hardison of Santa Paula as chairman.

Complaints made by farmers of damage done by various animals and birds have led to the appointment of the committee. Agricultural crops have suffered, they say, particularly from deer, band-tailed pigeons and blackbirds and crows. Consequently, the investigation will center on these.

The membership of the committee includes agriculturists, sportsmen, naturalists and representatives of the state, the University of California and the biological survey. A full study of the situation is to be made in an endeavor to bring about an amicable settlement of the problem which has arisen with the farmers on one side and sportsmen on the other. With the information gained by a thorough study of the problem, a report with recommendations will be made by the committee.

The British cruisers Dispatch and Dauntless arrived here today on their lengthy cruise. They will remain in port until Sept. 15, and will hold open house from Sept. 9 to 14.

PAINFUL CORNS

Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Stuckel) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

You will also find "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" a boon for sore, tired or perspiring feet.

"Corn Fly" for corns, 35c, "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" 25c, and "Corn Fly Union Remedy" 50c, (all three—$1.10 value—for $1.00), are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co., Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

One Way Out For Women Out of Work

MRS. FLORENCE GRANT, assistant director of the City Free Employment Bureau in New York City, says that one hundred household positions for women, many of them paying $70 and $80 a month, plus board and lodging, are going begging with no takers—despite the hundreds of women who have asked the bureau for work.

This announcement emphasizes what many thoughtful women—we are one of them—believe to be one way out for girls out of work during the present period of unemployment. Before every hair is pulled from our head by indignant young ladies who want to tell the world that they are not and never will be servants, we are going to argue the case for household service as at least a stopgap job.

The pay—from $70 to $80 a month, plus board, plus lodging—is good, compared to the returns for many shop and office jobs. When, moreover, a shop or office worker has been "out" for weeks or months and sees no immediate prospect of being "in," the household job should seem a financial godsend.

The work, in a modern house or apartment equipped with the usual labor-saving inventions is not beyond the health and strength of the average young woman. Consider the number of young wives who manage to remain blooming, even though they not only do their own work but bear and take care of two or three children.

The hours are, admittedly, long, but there are many breathing spells in a housewife's day, and at least she doesn't spend hours night and morning bucking the subway rush.

THE house worker's personal freedom, is less than that of shop or office worker—but more, much more, than it used to be. Housewives, during the period of servant shortage, have learned something. Not a few, for example, are acquainted with some of them—allow the household assistant every evening off, plus a latchkey.

Conditions of employment may be irritating—but here, again, the housewife is far more inclined than she once was to be courteous and reasonable in her attitude toward her employee. Anyway, there are so many calls for the domestic helper that, if she happens to be working for a crank, she can find enough find a more considerate employer.

The so-called "social stigma" undoubtedly deterred many girls from becoming household helpers, even temporarily. The answer to this objection was phrased, once for all, by Alexander Pope:

"Honor and shame from no condition rise. As well your part, there all the honor lies."

No young woman with intelligence and self-respect need think herself demeaned by doing housework. As for what her friends think, only the narrow-minded snobs will change in their attitude toward her. And—really—who wants a narrow-minded snob for a friend?

PLEASE do not misunderstand our point of view. We are not trying to drive back into permanent household employment girls who prefer other work. We prefer other work ourselves—we find housework dull, and seem to have no inspiring future to the ambitious. But we do NOT find it degrading, and we do believe that to many women who are hungry and shabby and idle, housework offers a sane, practical opportunity for self-support at the present time.

More than that, housework offers the opportunity to acquire a boodle fund, since any woman making from $70 to $80 a month, with board and lodging supplied and clothing expenses reduced to a minimum, can save a sizable sum even in a year. She can save, in that time, enough money to take the first step toward the sort of job she really wants, in what a year hence—will probably be a far better labor market. Is not this alternative to feminine unemployment worth consideration?

The Great Problem

Modernizing the Home

By Alma Zaiss

HERE A NUMBER OF QUITE SIMPLE PIECES FIND THEMSELVES IN A QUIET AND COLORFUL SETTING. PARTICULARLY INTERESTING FOR YOUNGER MEMBERS OF THE SIX-ROOM HOME.

Dear Miss Zaiss:

I am planning to furnish a six-room colonial house and am a little doubtful as to just what type furnishings to buy. While the outside of the house is colonial, the inside does not adhere strictly to this type. The walls are not papered, but stiped, and there are archways instead of regular doors.

Any suggestions you can give me will be greatly appreciated.
(Miss A. M. J.)

General Suggestions for a Six-Room Home

WE are nearing the end of the remarkable sale period which each year is noteworthy enough to turn thoughts away from mere week-ends and summer vacations toward the serious business of preparing the house for the indoor season. To be of broadest value, then, our last "purchasing problems" may well be as general in character as possible, not tied to one definite home or room of specific size and architectural arrangement. And so this once we can afford to forgive the letter-writer, who has given us no floor plans, measurements or details regarding wall spaces, windows, doors, exposures, budget limits and what not. . . . all of which it is so necessary to have in order to make correct individual recommendations.

In Miss J.'s house, as in other houses which follow colonial lines architecturally but are not true to type inside, it is best not to strive for a rigid period effect, but rather to select simple, comfortable, home-like furnishings that suggest the colonial theme in its many variations. Almost any plan of decoration can be followed, provided it is not too heavy and crude.

We might start with the hallway and say in a general way that it is usually wise to use in the foyer an interesting table or console, chest or lowboy with one or two well-designed chairs that can be used as extra chairs in the living room when bridge is in order and straight chairs are in demand.

Rectangular tables, not too large, fit the proportions of the average hall, and there are many good types from which to choose. The Dutch colonial tables, for example, and chairs that go with them are ornamental enough nation in our choice of occasional tables. There are such delightful round stands, tip-top and pie-crust tables, cunning little book tables with raised edges, small drum and pedestal tables. . . . oh, a number of interesting types that take the place of the usual half-moon or long, narrow end piece or book trough. . . . These tables prove too expensive, then, small, lightweight gateleg tables can be used, although the usual gateleg is a little heavy for a room of this more finished type.

In selecting draperies for such a room as Miss J. has outlined it is hard to think of anything nicer or more satisfactory than a good colorful but well designed chintz or linen at the windows. Sometimes it is better to use a pattern showing big accessories of bright-colored flowers against a light background, say cream, pale yellow or ivory; again we find that the windows have more sturdiness and a finer decorative quality if we choose one of the chintzes or linens having a dark plum or dull wood-brown background, the brighter colors appearing in the flower design. Usually these curtains are most effective when made full length and very simple and either allowed to hang straight or draped back softly with tie-backs of the same material.

Rugs may be plain or patterned, but unless one can afford a really good Oriental we strongly recommend a plain rug of good quality as being in better taste and better decoration, for it gives more character to the room and a better color effect. If a dark background is used for the draperies, it is wise to have a fairly dark rug, such as tete de negre, plum, raisin, eggplant or dark walnut brown. With lighter draperies one may venture into lighter colors for the floor remembering, however, that rule of decoration which tells us our foundation should always be darker than the surrounding walls or the ceiling overhead.

In Miss J.'s dining room and rooms in general, we would prefer a simple light furniture of late eighteenth century character in mahogany, if possible, such as the charming Hepplewhite and Sheraton or Duncan Phyfe pieces, which may be used together with fine effect. Bright colored curtains in this room help tremendously to create a cheerful scheme, especially if the wall is plain; instead of a China cabinet it is far more interesting to use one of a pair of corner cupboards, other better than and having a graceful curved top and a cupboard bottom, or one of natural wood in the Sheraton manner.

In the bedrooms there is an opportunity for real quaintness. If the two or three bedrooms are not directly connected it would be nice to have the schemes quite gay and different in color and character. In one room we might have mahogany furniture of the more finished type: four-poster bed, if the room will stand them; if not, spool beds or low four-post types that are less massive. Another room might be in maple, the lighter primitive type, such as is illustrated. A fine chance for character and individuality is found in the simple, colorful schemes.

The bedroom floor in a colonial home always affords an opportunity for interesting treatment through the use of quaint old hooked or braided rugs, and even the simple rug rug is very effective. If the walls are painted, colorful sprigged chintz could be used at the windows and a plain color on the bed; or if the walls are papered in some gay little colonial design, perhaps plain chintz at the windows would be more effective.

It is not difficult to select a good color scheme for these rooms which lend themselves to any number of delightful combinations. With colonial mahogany, red and green or white make an excellent choice and one that is not so generally used. With the richer reddish brown of dark maple the lighter soft greens with yellows have possibilities that are not always realized in the presence of the more usual chintz combinations.

Accessories for all these rooms will prove most important. . . . and the shops are filled with reproductions of delightful old pewter and colonial brass lamps, brass and porcelain, charming old clocks and fire tools, old-fashioned prints and flower paintings, hanging bookshelves and coffee tables. After the foundation of furniture is provided it is in the choice of these minor elements of decoration that one's keenest pleasure lies. We may say that it is these very finishing touches that make the room come alive. For here there

Requisites for the Bride's Chest

QUANTITIES in linens and comforts for the bride these days are based upon twin beds. The list given below may be cut in half when the new bride elects to use the standard double size.

The bride of this fall or any other who buys the longer sheets of 108-inch length will find her purchase one of greatest wisdom. The slight additional price is well worth the comfort a long sheet affords.

For perfect fitting sheets to be used on twin beds should measure 72 by 108 inches, although they may be but 68 inches wide. The same length and the 81-inch width is best for the full size or double bed.

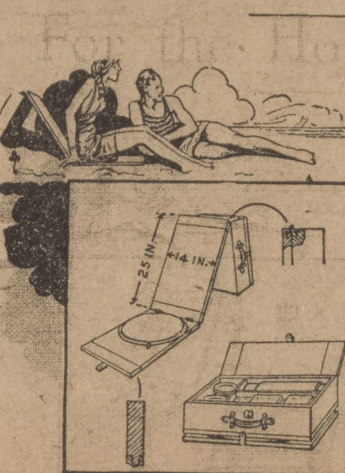

The following list has proven basically correct for the room in which twin beds are used:

Two mattress covers in color or in white.
Two pairs woolen blankets in green, rose, lavender or mahogany.
Two single woolen blankets in the same colors.
Six pairs of sheets.
Twelve pairs of pillow cases.
Two patchwork quilts for the Early American room.
One travel rug, or an extra throw for couch or bed during hours of rest.
Two single woolen spreads for the beds and covers for comforters.

For the Home Mechanic

WITH the beach seat question uppermost in the minds of many "island" bathers, a combination lunch box and seat seems one way to outfit the so-called monopoly. The handy man can construct such a combination and thus have at least one seat which the family can use without paying for the privilege. Lunch boxes are not included in this general embargo.

The Beauty Shop

"CAN you imagine a more unfortunate combination," wailed Sally, "than an off day and a day off. Look at me. My eyes are bleary and I've got a date with Bob to spend a day in the country. Out under a bright blue sky where he can see every pore in my face!"

What do you do in a case like this? And here is what we suggest.

We all have our off days—even the prettiest of us—when for no particular reason we look like a mess. Those are the days we need something unusual in the way of beauty treatments—something unusual, yes, and something extra. And now let me suggest a routine for you, Sally.

First of all you've got to pep up your skin with a stimulating lotion or a circulation poultice—something beautiful that stirs up the blood back of that muddy face of yours. You will give your skin a thorough cleansing with cream first, of course.

And after you have done your stimulating you will use some gentle, soothing lotion, then a foundation cream, and after that your exterior decoration. If the soothing lotion happens also to be a good make-up base, so very much the better. There are quite excellent preparations of the sort at the cosmetic counters.

Now about your hair. That needs pepping too. Treat your scalp to a brisk massage with the aid of tonic. After that give your hair a rub-down with a dry Turkish towel. Next brush your hair backward, forward and from side to side. Fluff it a bit.

Use only the simple, straight nippers that slip over the neck of the bottle—preferably those of black rubber. The hole in the nipple should be sufficiently large to allow the milk to drop rapidly when the bottle is inverted, but not so large that it will flow in a steady stream.

Care of Baby's Bottle

THE nursing bottle you use for your baby should be cylindrical and contain no corners, so it may easily be kept clean.

As soon as a bottle is emptied it should be rinsed with cold water and filled with water to which has been added a little bicarbonate of soda or borax and allowed to stand. Then it should be thoroughly cleansed with hot soap suds, using a bottle brush, and after rinsing with boiling water fill with backward, forward and from side to side. Fluff it a bit.

Use only the simple, straight nippers that slip over the neck of the bottle—preferably those of black rubber. The hole in the nipple should be sufficiently large to allow the milk to drop rapidly when the bottle is inverted, but not so large that it will flow in a steady stream.

Food product manufacturers have recently introduced a new flavored gelatin on the market and given housewives a new interest in concocting fruit salads. The new flavor, lime, is offered in two different brands of flavored gelatin, and both are unusually delicate in flavor and attractive in appearance. TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

EL CERRITO COUNCIL IN MEETING

Bids of oil companies for the supplying of oil, gasoline and a pump to the city of El Cerrito, were rejected at a meeting of the city council Monday night.

New bids will be received not later than Sept. 29, it was decided.

The council authorized the signing of checks by Mary Curtin, deputy assessor, during the absence of City Clerk Alice Walker at the suggestion of Councilman Phil Lee.

The cutting boulevard sewer plans were laid over to be investigated by the sanitary board.

Peter Larsen was given another week to report on the street opening between Pomona and Terrace avenues.

The subject of buying all the city's gas and oil from one service station was brought up by Mayor J. R. Beck, and it was decided in the future to buy the fluids at different stations that are qualified to sell to the city. Attorney T. H. DeLapp offered the suggestion that the gas be bought only at service stations which have standard prices, which was accepted.

Establishing of the width of Stockton street was referred to Street Commissioner Peter Larsen. City Engineer Ross Calfee and Councilman E. E. O'Brien.

Traffic Officer Arthur Peralta was granted his annual vacation to start Sept. 16.

An invitation was received from the League of California Municipalities for all city officials to attend the 32nd annual convention to be held at Long Beach, Oct. 6-11.

Application by the El Cerrito American Legion post to sponsor a carnival the week of Nov. 11 was laid over until next week, pending written application from the post.

put back in place, the carpets are shaken, cushions are dusted and are replaced.

Now for the big job of polishing... wait a minute... those headlights ought to be cleaned.

A half hour later and the lights are cleaned.

Now for the work on the body polish. He rolls up his sleeves, spits on his hands, gathers the polishing cloth firmly, and starts to apply the first stroke.

A call from the house: "John, dinner is ready. I've been calling you for the last half hour!"

"Oh, well." Our Hero grunts as he throws the cloth away. "I can polish the car next Sunday."

Next Saturday the wife takes the machine to a garage and has it washed.

Charles McLean, 22, son of Mrs. B. M. Coom of 935 Thirty-first street, Richmond, is in a severe condition at the Merrit Hospital Oakland as the result of a motorcycle accident in Oakland.

but while taking off capsized. The plane was destroyed and the army fliers badly injured.

Little attention was paid to this spectacular effort to attack the new government at its very inception, however, and the people, in gay mood merely laughed at the pamphlets.

It was a holiday, declared by the regime which seized control from the Irigoyen administration in a swift, almost unopposed march on the city, and long before 4 o'clock the Plaza de Mayo and adjacent avenues were thick with people.

Takes Oath
General Uriburu appeared on the balcony of the rose-colored government building, bareheaded in the brilliant winter sunshine. A thunderous wave of applause swept over the crowd.

As the "vivas" died down, General Uriburu stepped up to take the oath. Six airplanes circled overhead. Hundreds of blue and white doves were released, fluttering upward over the flag-decked plaza.

Uriburu raised his right hand and swore.

"By God, our Father and the evangelical saints, I swear to discharge loyally and patriotically the duties of president and to uphold the constitution of the Argentine nation."

Then there was silence, and the new minister of interior, Matias Sanchez Storondo, spoke.

"The date, Sept. 6, 1930, ranks now in Argentine history with the great national dates of our country," Storondo declared. "It ranks with the dates of May 25 and February 3. They all stand for revolutions for liberty."

"This one has succeeded because it was stripped of political or party character. It has only one absolute demand: to save our institutions. That, my friends, is the real, the sincere sentiment of this revolution."

"The fate of the nation is now in your hands. I ask you to repeat with the cry of liberty which our forefathers voiced from this same place 120 years ago—'Long live the fatherland!'"

He Wanted Garage Too

PORTSMOUTH, Va.—Panhandling stock was quoted at a new high when the market closed one night at Portsmouth Y. M. C. A. An unidentified "bull" trader hung over the desk, tear and perspiration coursing in streams down his travel-stained face as he intoned a story of lost jobs; children crying for food; hopeless fruitless search for honest work; hard-boiled world.

His heart melting with compassion, the secretary's sales resistance weakened. Hands across the counter—the well known backslap.

"Surely, brother; have a room and bath on us, and may God bless you!" said he.

"Thanks a lot," the stranger murmured in voice broken by unstilled sobs. "And now," he concluded, "do you suppose you could furnish a garage for my car?"

PLANES USED IN BANDIT HUNT

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 8.—UP—Airplanes were called into use to lead a posse through the swampy Altamaha delta region in search of two suspected bank robbers who shot four men, one fatally, at Darien, Ga., today.

The pair apparently were attempting to enter the bank of Darien when they were surprised by Night Watchman Anderson of the bank. Anderson was shot in the arm and shoulder in an exchange of shots with the men.

Officers and citizens joined in the running gunfight through streets of the town. The suspects fled into the swamps, leaving J. Fisher, a citizen and Deputy Sheriff J. H. Collins seriously wounded.

Robert L. Freeman, acting chief of Glen county police, was fatally wounded as he led a posse into the swamp after the fleeing men. Airplanes were ordered from Jacksonville, Fla., to fly over the swamp and direct the possemen.
